

URDANETA CITY UNIVERSITY UPHOLDS INCLUSIVITY IN EDUCATION IN SUPPORT OF UN SDG 4

Demonstrating its enduring commitment to inclusive and equitable quality education, Urdaneta City University (UCU) continues to embody the principles of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goal 4 (SDG 4)—ensuring that everyone has access to lifelong learning opportunities, regardless of background or circumstance.

UCU's inclusivity is reflected in the way it conducts its educational activities both on campus and beyond. Whether through classroom instruction, public lectures, or outreach initiatives in local schools and communities, the University ensures that education remains a right accessible to all—regardless of ethnicity, religion, disability, immigration status, or gender.

Through its community-based lectures, training programs, and extension projects, UCU extends learning beyond its campus, reaching students, educators, and community members who may have limited access to formal education. These activities not only enhance knowledge and skills but also strengthen community ties and promote lifelong learning—core objectives of SDG 4.

On campus, inclusivity is further reinforced through accessible learning environments and digital innovations. The Orata Library and the iKonek Learning Management System (LMS) provide students with free and open access to books, e-resources, and lecture materials, ensuring that learning continues seamlessly for everyone, including those with different learning needs or circumstances.

By integrating inclusivity into both its policies and practices, Urdaneta City University proudly contributes to the realization of SDG 4. Through its academic and outreach efforts, the University continues to break barriers, empower communities, and nurture a culture of equal opportunity—proving that quality education truly knows no boundaries.
